Political activity as defined in Section 1(0) of the Act means the dissemination of political propaganda and any other activity which the person engaging therein believes will, or which he intends to, prevail upon, indoctrinate, convert, induce, persuade, or in any other way influence any agency or official of the Government of the United States or any section of the public within the United States with reference to formulating, adopting, or changing the domestic or foreign policies of the United States or with reference to the political or public interests, policies, or relations of a government of a foreign country or a foreign political party.

CONTRACT

April 7, 1986

The Embassy of Japan, 2520 Massachusetts Avenue, NW, Washington, DC (hereinafter referred to as the "Embassy") and the JAPAN ECONOMIC INSTITUTE of America, 1000 Connecticut Avenue, NW, Washington, DC (hereinafter referred to as the "Institute") hereby agree and contract as follows:

- 1. During the Japanese fiscal year 1986, the Embassy, in order to promote friendly economic relations between Japan and the United States and to encourage the expansion of trade between the two countries, will provide the Institute with financial assistance to the extent required, within the overall limitation of US $769,692.00 to actively further these purposes. In turn, the Institute, during the said fiscal year, will carry forward the activities enumerated in paragraph 3.
- 2. The Embassy will supply the funds to the Institute quarterly, at the latter's request.
- 3. The Institute accepts the responsibility of advancing the purpose set forth in paragraph 1, by faithfully and efficiently providing the following services:
 - (1) Public information measures to disseminate throughout the United States information on the economic and trade problems of Japan and the United States;

- (2) Report upon activities of the United States Congress and the Executive agencies which may in any way effect United States-Japan trade;
- (3) Representation of the interests of all parties involved in trade between the two countries and formal presentation of testimony thereon before the United States Congress and Executive agencies;
- (4) Sponsorship of meetings with the press and conferences with other interested persons to discuss the United States-Japan trade and related problems;
- (5) Maintenance of close coordination with other organizations, associations and individuals having interest in the United States foreign economic policies generally, and in the United States-Japan trade particularly:
- (6) Economic and statistical research on selected problems of significance to the trade between the two countries.
- 4. After the termination of the period covered by this contract (March 31, 1987), the Institute will render an accounting of all funds received hereunder and, if any balance remains, it shall be returned immediately to the Embassy.
- 5. If at any time the Institute fails to conscientiously provide the services enumerated in paragraph 3, or expends the funds received for purposes other than those contemplated by this contract, the Embassy may decrease or suspend the further supply of funds and be entitled to the return of any funds not applied in good faith to further the purpose of this contract.

- 6. Qualified representatives of the Embassy may, whenever necessary and at any time, inspect the Institute activities in pursuance of this contract and the accounting records of the Institute dealing with expenditures undertaken hereunder.
- 7. Conflicts which may arise concerning the interpretation of the terms of this contract or matters thereto shall be resolved by agreement between the Embassy Minister whose signature appears below and the President of the Institute whose signature also affixed hereto.
- 8. This contract shall come into force as of the first day of April, 1986.

In witness of the above agreement, Mr. Nagao Hyodo representing the Embassy of Japan, and Mr. William J. Barnds for the JAPAN ECONOMIC INSTITUTE of America, have signed hereunder.

Nagao Hyodo Minister William J. Barnds
President
